

PETERSBURG TO INVITE CONFEDERATE REUNION

A. P. Hill Camp Authorized by Business Organizations to Act for City in Matter.

PLANS ALREADY INAUGURATED

Executive Committee Formed to Arrange Details. Important Decision in Prince George Court—Virginia League President Visits Hopewell.

PETERSBURG, VA., July 21.—At a meeting last night of representatives of commercial, business and other organizations in the city, it was unanimously agreed that the Confederate Grand Camp of Virginia should be invited to hold its annual reunion this year in Petersburg, and the suggestion was made that the reunion be held during the Southside Fair week, October 17th, 18th and 19th. The meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of that body, the Retail Merchants' Association, Travelers' Protective Association, Southside Fair Association, A. P. Hill Camp of Veterans and Sons of Veterans and other organizations were present. After full discussion, the A. P. Hill Camp was authorized to invite the Grand Camp to meet in Petersburg in October, and it is understood the invitation will go forward at once. Plans were inaugurated for the visitors who will be attracted to the city by the reunion, and an executive committee was formed to arrange the details of hospitality and entertainment. This committee is composed of Charles T. Lassiter, president, and W. M. Martin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. W. E. Woodward and T. S. Beckwith, of A. P. Hill Camp; D. A. Lyon, Jr., and S. D. Rodgers, of the Sons of Veterans; Samuel W. Zimmer of the Retail Merchants' Association; W. T. Baugh, of the Travelers' Protective Association, and J. S. Spencer, Esq., of the Fair Association. It is suggested that the cooperation of the white schoolchildren be secured in raising the fund for the entertainment of the visitors.

A Police Raid.

In accordance with plans quietly perfected by Chief Bagland, the police, at a late hour last night, raided a number of alleged disorderly houses in the lower section of the city and arrested proprietors and inmates. When the raid was over, some twenty-five or more white women were housed at the Police Station. They will be given a hearing in the Police Court tomorrow.

Import Decision.

In Prince George Court yesterday, Judge J. C. Hester, sitting for Judge West, rendered a decision declaring that Justice Rodgers was illegally acting as a Justice of the Peace in the lower section of the city, and was qualified as Justice of the Peace in Rives District, and subsequently moved into Rives District, where he continued his judicial work. The decision will affect many cases disposed of by the Justice.

In the Hustings Court.

In the Hustings Court, L. D. Diarr, charged with assaulting his wife, was acquitted. This was an appeal case from the Police Court, where Diarr was convicted and assessed a fine of $10. The case occupied the time of the court for three hours.

The Trial of J. T. Noel, the drug clerk, for the murder of Mrs. Robertson, was set for August 8.

Baseball Matters.

President Corprew, of the Virginia League, was in the city today on his way to Hopewell to inquire into the rumors that the city would surrender its franchise. He stated that no league meeting had been called for tonight; that he had not been notified that Hopewell was going to throw up its franchise; and that if the city of Petersburg would remain in the league, and the Hopewell club would be carried by the league as an orphan to the end of the season. The directors of the Petersburg club, however, are in no hurry to carry the team to the end of the season, and they are men who will carry out what they undertake.

Silver Loving Cup Presented.

The employees of G. B. Keeler & Son, contractors, enjoyed a picnic yesterday at White Bank Farm, in Chesterfield, a most interesting feature of the day was the presentation to G. B. Keeler, the retiring member of the firm, of a handsome silver loving cup, in token of their regard and esteem. Mr. Keeler has been a contractor for more than a quarter of a century.

News Notes of Interest.

Petitions are in circulation in Ettrick asking the Board of Supervisors of Chesterfield to postpone action on the matter of building a new courthouse on the site of the present one. The board meets on July 24. The citizens of Bermuda District are also opposed to expending money in building a new court at the present location.

Ex-Governor William Hodges Mann and others last night delivered addresses at Hopewell on social service work.

Dr. Fred E. Steeve, formerly of this city, but late of Richmond and West Point, has returned to Petersburg to practice his profession.

The large new hotel building in Tabb street, adjoining the post-office, is nearing completion. It will be ready for occupation in the fall.

The city is making for bids for laying a large quantity of concrete curbing and guttering and for concrete sidewalks.

To Teach in Putnash Schools.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] PUTNASH, VA., July 21.—The Putnash school board has elected the following teachers for the coming term: Mrs. L. S. Sayre, Putnash, principal of high school; Miss Mary Thomas, Putnash, history and civics; Miss Frances Dore, Putnash, Latin and French; Miss Elizabeth Jordan, Putnash, English and science; Miss Julia Leach, Roanoke, principal of elementary grades; Miss Myra Howard, Delco, Miss Louise Holland, Wilmington, VA.; Miss Helen Gardner, Apple Grove, VA.; Miss Helen West, Lynchburg; Miss Sarah Allison, Miss Bettie Bell, Miss Lillian Smith, Miss Irene Hunter, Miss Eva Steger, Miss Pierce Lyon, Miss Nellie Painter, Miss Lucy Livingston, of Putnash; Miss Alma Wilkinson, Hillsville, Miss Scottie McPheters, Mint Springs, Va., and Miss Katie Miller, Wytheville, grammar and elementary grades.

Colored Joy Rider Killed.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 21.—Nathan Moore, a negro chauffeur, who had gone out in the automobile of his employer, Dr. E. B. Percebe, for a night ride with friends, was instantly killed early this morning, and two negro women were injured seriously when the car turned turtle near St. Augustine's School.

The members of the party had been drinking, it is stated.

A the Movies To-Day

STANDARD—Theda Bara, in "East of Eden."
NEW—Charlie Chaplin, in "The Tramp."
REX—Crane Wilbur, in "A Fool's Progress," and George Ovey, in a comedy.
MOVIE—Frank Keenan and Enid May, in "The Phantom," also a Keystone comedy.
CLONAL—Virginia Pearson, in "A Broken Heart."
DEON—Audin Farnum, in "Day Crockett."
OLGA—Olga Petrova, in "The Search for Billie Burke," in "Glad's Romance."
ATLANTIC—A Midwinter Madness, with Dorothy Phillips, and "Who's Guilty?"

DRAIBRIDGE PROPOSED ACROSS POTOMAC RIVER

Maryland Approves Plan for Span Near Colonial Beach for New Railroad.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A railroad drawbridge, blocking the Potomac River just this side of Colonial Beach, is a disconcerting prospect officially approved by the State of Maryland.

In its opinion of persons well qualified to speak on the matter, the proposed bridge will seriously interfere with Washington's growing water traffic, and will discourage the visit to the city of big steamers and naval vessels.

The board of Public Works of Maryland yesterday gave its O. K. to the proposition.

The bridge to be built is at River, Charles County, Md., the proposition being to connect Riverside with Monkm, in King George County, Va., an establish railroad communication between Baltimore and Newport News.

The Maryland board has decided the Potomac and Baltimore Railroad Company may construct the drawbridge.

However, the consent of Congress is necessary before a bridge is constructed across a navigable stream. It is not until that Congress will be hurried to go about the matter of permitting an obstruction of the Potomac.

The permission obtained by the building an obstruction of the Potomac, with a man of steel indicates that the fight for the privilege will now be transferred to Washington. Both Congress and the War Department will be asked to approve the project.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Woman's Skull Is Fractured and Young Man Suffers Serious Injuries Near Harrisonburg.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] HARRISONBURG, VA., July 21.—In an automobile accident this morning before 1 o'clock on the Valley Turnpike, a few miles from Harrisonburg, Lee Gardin, of Waynesboro, was badly injured and Mrs. Eva Hennings, of Philadelphia, suffered a fractured skull and a broken arm. Both were removed to the city hospital, where Mrs. Hennings died later.

Gardner's son of W. H. Gardner, proprietor of an extract plant in Waynesboro, was about twenty-five years old. Mrs. Hennings, with her parents, had been spending the summer in Waynesboro.

Gardner evidently lost control of the machine when passing the Blumers and Ohio railroad tracks. The car turned over, pinning the occupants under it. Dr. H. Deyrele was returning from a call and found the couple unconscious near the highway. He moved the car to the hospital, a short distance away, and operated on them.

FIREMEN ENJOY BALL

Tournament of North Carolina Companies Brought to Close.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., July 21.—The State firemen's tournament closed tonight with an elaborate ball. The day was given over to contests. The Chapel Hill team, which had been defeated, making a score of 17 seconds. In the horse race contest this afternoon, the horse No. 1 was winner in 28 seconds, having had to race off a tie with Capt. Company, of Kingston, which dropped to 28.45 seconds in the second effort.

The Pomper races were not held. The interesting feature of the day was the presentation to G. B. Keeler, the retiring member of the firm, of a handsome silver loving cup, in token of their regard and esteem. Mr. Keeler has been a contractor for more than a quarter of a century.

News Notes of Interest.

Petitions are in circulation in Ettrick asking the Board of Supervisors of Chesterfield to postpone action on the matter of building a new courthouse on the site of the present one. The board meets on July 24. The citizens of Bermuda District are also opposed to expending money in building a new court at the present location.

Ex-Governor William Hodges Mann and others last night delivered addresses at Hopewell on social service work.

Dr. Fred E. Steeve, formerly of this city, but late of Richmond and West Point, has returned to Petersburg to practice his profession.

The large new hotel building in Tabb street, adjoining the post-office, is nearing completion. It will be ready for occupation in the fall.

The city is making for bids for laying a large quantity of concrete curbing and guttering and for concrete sidewalks.

To Teach in Putnash Schools.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] PUTNASH, VA., July 21.—The Putnash school board has elected the following teachers for the coming term: Mrs. L. S. Sayre, Putnash, principal of high school; Miss Mary Thomas, Putnash, history and civics; Miss Frances Dore, Putnash, Latin and French; Miss Elizabeth Jordan, Putnash, English and science; Miss Julia Leach, Roanoke, principal of elementary grades; Miss Myra Howard, Delco, Miss Louise Holland, Wilmington, VA.; Miss Helen Gardner, Apple Grove, VA.; Miss Helen West, Lynchburg; Miss Sarah Allison, Miss Bettie Bell, Miss Lillian Smith, Miss Irene Hunter, Miss Eva Steger, Miss Pierce Lyon, Miss Nellie Painter, Miss Lucy Livingston, of Putnash; Miss Alma Wilkinson, Hillsville, Miss Scottie McPheters, Mint Springs, Va., and Miss Katie Miller, Wytheville, grammar and elementary grades.

Colored Joy Rider Killed.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 21.—Nathan Moore, a negro chauffeur, who had gone out in the automobile of his employer, Dr. E. B. Percebe, for a night ride with friends, was instantly killed early this morning, and two negro women were injured seriously when the car turned turtle near St. Augustine's School.

The members of the party had been drinking, it is stated.

SUBMARINE MINE LAYER LATE PRIZE OF BRITISH

Prior to Capture Made Nineteen Trips From Base in Germany to English Coast.

BUILT FOR THIS ONE PURPOSE

Shows Signs of Rapidity of Construction, but Appears Well Fitted for Short Trips Across North Sea—To Be Placed on Public Exhibition.

LONDON, July 21.—The German submarine mine layer which is one of the U-35 class, one of the latest prizes of the British navy, was visited by an Associated Press representative to-day prior to its being placed on public exhibition in the Thames.

The prize, flying the German naval ensign surmounted by the British ensign, lay in a naval dockyard on the east coast. The vessel is designed purely for mine laying. The entire forward part is composed of wells, six in number, each containing two powerful mines, which can be released by levers. The ship has no torpedo tubes or other armament except small arms for the crew, and is only 100 feet in length.

Thirteen blue-jackets and five officers comprise the crew of the submarine. According to one of the seamen she made, prior to her capture, nineteen trips from her base in Germany to the British coast, and laid over 200 mines in routes frequented by merchant vessels. She was on her twentieth trip when she was captured by the British patrol-boat.

The sailors said that when the submarine was sighted and chased by a patrol-boat the crew tried to get rid of her remaining mines, but had not sufficient time. Seeing that capture was inevitable the officers ordered the abandonment of the ship, destroyed the engine and records, and virtually demolished the six-cylinder Diesel engine of approximately 250-horse power. All of the crew and officers were taken prisoner.

The hull of the submarine is in good condition, but shows a number of dents where it struck obstacles in its underwater voyages. The craft shows signs of rapidity of construction, but appears well fitted for short trips across the North Sea. British naval officers pointed out that the mines carried no apparatus for rendering them harmless if they broke loose from their moorings, as required by the Hague convention.

THROWN FROM AUTO; DIES

Prominent Winchester Horseman Fatally Hurt When Machine Struck Tree.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WINCHESTER, VA., July 21.—Henry Noonan, aged forty-five years, a prominent Winchester horseman, died late this afternoon in Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries sustained when he was thrown last night from an automobile near Middletown, twelve miles from here, on the Shenandoah Valley road, and never fully regained consciousness.

Clark Phifer, of Winchester, who was driving the car, is said to have been going at a rapid rate, and it is thought the car struck a stone or rut. It upset, turning completely over, and righting itself in the road. Phifer's skull was fractured, and he also suffered numerous cuts and bruises. He has a fighting chance for life, it was said at the hospital to-night.

James C. Baker, another occupant, escaped with minor bruises and severe nervous shock.

The men were returning from the country when the accident occurred. The car was badly damaged. Noonan was the son of the late Colonel Pollock Noonan. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Belle Noonan, and four brothers, William, Massena, N. Y.; John T. and J. Mack Noonan, Winchester, and Martin Noonan, Norfolk.

DR. J. S. GRASTY ELECTED

Chosen Professor of Mining Geology at Washington and Lee University.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LEXINGTON, VA., July 21.—At a special meeting last night of the board of trustees of Washington and Lee University, Dr. John Sharshall Grasty, associate professor of geology at the University of Virginia, was elected professor of the department of mining geology recently established at Washington and Lee.

Dr. Grasty holds the position of assistant State Geologist of Virginia. He is a son of Thomas Grasty, who for some years was editor and one of the owners of the Manufacturers' Record. His grandfather, Dr. John S. Grasty, was for many years pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Fincastle, Va.

Dr. Grasty was educated at Washington and Lee University and took his degree of doctor of philosophy at Johns Hopkins University.

TAKING LONG "HIKE"

Young Men Who Walked From Baltimore to Bristol Now on Return Trip.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BRISTOL, VA., July 21.—John J. Neumann, George Burger, Mackall Bowser, and Charles P. Burger, recent graduates of Calvert Hall College, Baltimore, have completed an interesting "hike" from Baltimore to Bristol, and are now on the return journey. The young men were received here by Father Meyer and his sister, of St. Ann's Catholic Church. At the priest's invitation they slept in the Catholic Church, but declined bedding offered for their comfort.

The return journey will include stops at Roanoke, Lynchburg, Charlottesville and Washington.

Walters—Robertson.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., July 21.—Bernie Leslie Walters and Miss Mary Alice Robertson, of the Slate Hill neighborhood, this city, were married this afternoon at the parsonage of High Street Baptist Church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Henry W. Battle, D. D.

RURAL LIFE CONFERENCE BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

Thomas C. Diggs, of Richmond, One of Speakers at Final Session at University of Virginia.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., July 21.—The Rural Life Conference, which has been in session at the University of Virginia since Monday, came to a close this afternoon, the speakers at the final session being Thomas C. Diggs, secretary of the Virginia Sunday School Association, Richmond, and Professor A. L. Hall-Quent, professor of educational psychology at the University of Virginia. The former told the teachers how the State association helps the Sunday school for some rural betterment, while the latter spoke of the personality of the teacher.

The value of Sunday school community surveys was discussed at the morning session by Rev. H. H. Hudson, superintendent of West Hanover Presbyterian home missions and Sunday school work, and Dr. Joseph T. Watts, Sunday school secretary of the mission board of the Baptist General Association of Virginia, told of the achievements of the country Sunday school.

In an address on "Community Recreation" at assembly hour, Dr. A. P. Bourland, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the Southern Conference for Education and Industry, reviewed the rural credit system of German farmers, and explained how community life has been developed there by community co-operation.

"The source of Germany's power," said Dr. Bourland, "is in her compact, productive communities that form a solid, rock-bed foundation for the Imperial power."

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural schools—longer term, professionally trained teachers, universal high school education, adequate county force, community organization, consolidation of teachers, a school principal for the whole time, farm plots for the study of agriculture, county libraries, and education that shall educate the boy and girl as well as the man and woman.

Professor J. L. McElhiney, school extension agent, U. S. Bureau of Education, gave a lecture on the nationwide campaign for the betterment of rural schools. He summarized briefly under ten heads the needs of the rural